Saturday's Game.

The game of ball Saturday between the local team and Ozark drew out a good size crowd as the Ozark team have long been a rival of our town boys. The first four innings were spirited, but in the fifth our boys hit hard, netting eight scores. In the sixth Holladay was put in the box for Ozark and for the next four innings of the contest allowed only two scores off his delivery. R. Judd who was pitching fine ball for the locals was hit by pitched ball in the sixth inning and retired to Young, who, in the remaining three innings, gave the visitors only two hits. Tom Judd was spiked in the eighth and had to retire from the game. The score:

Cutting Affray.

Late Thursday afternoon Adolphus Newby and Sylvester Beachamp, two colored men, were noticed standing on Burkville street, about twenty yards from the square, conversing. If there was trouble brewing, no one knew it. Suddenly they were seen struggling, and it was at once known that a fight was on. Newby finally got his knife from his pocket and started Beachamp twice about the back. As soon as the stalling occurred, parties interfered, separating the combatants. Beachamp was not seriously hurt, but he all right in a few days. It is said the trouble came up over a debt.

Mr. William Cave, who lived in the Mt. Carmel country, was adjudged of sound mind last Friday morning and will be conveyed to Lakeland. He is eighty-two years old and was a soldier in the Mexican war, a member of Capt. Squires company.

It is settled that the Columbia Fair will open Tuesday, August 17. The Executive Committee and the Secretary are now at work, perfecting all arrangements.

Mayor Wilson, in behalf of his team has challenged Columbia's first nine to a game to be played here Thursday.

AT THE SEELBACH.

Mr. Harry V. Denver, Lexington, Tenn., Married to Miss Nina Marcum, this City.

CEREMONY BY DR. E. L. POWELL.

Mr. Harry V. Denver, of Lexington, Tenn., and Miss Nina Marcum, of this city were united in Marriage Monday the 21st, in the parlors of the Seelbach Hotel, Louisville, Ky., Dr. E. L. Powell of the First Christian Church officiating. They were accompanied to Louisville, by Misses Dast Marcum, sister of the bride, and Katie Murrell and Mr. Wallace Reed, of Memphis, Tenn. The wedding was quiet, there being only a few friends in attendance. Mr. Denver is a watchmaker and Jeweler and is highly recommended and by profession is an official Inspector for the U. S. C. & W. L. Railway.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. M. E. Marcum, this city, and is a most popular and talented young lady, a graduate of the Lindsey-Wilson School and teacher of Expression of such merit as to command the admiration every where she taught. Of unusual modesty, she has a favorable disposition and high attainments she was a favorite of the young ladies of this part of the country.

Immediately after the solemn vows were taken they left for a six weeks trip through the Western and North-western States where they will visit Yellowstone Park, Denver, San Francisco, the Exposition at Seattle and many other places of interest and arrive at their home, Lexington, Tenn., August 15th.

The News joins their many friends in extending congratulations and in wishing them a happy, prosperous life.

The second nine of this place gave the first nine all they wanted last Thursday. Edwin Cravens, Rue Walter, Ray Montgomery and Leon Lewis were the batteries for the second nine. Will Young and Jo M. Rosenfield for the first nine. The game was called promptly at 2:30 in the afternoon and was spirited and including the twelfth inning. At the ninth inning the clubs tied and at the close the score stood tie in favor of the first nine. Taking into consideration the second nine had not played a game this season, the above result was a great victory for it.

Get your stock ready for the Columbia Fair—August 17 will be the date.

Mr. H. C. Pease and Mr. Fred McLean have been awarded the contract to repaint the court-house, two coats, on the outside, beginning at the basement, on the cupola and coming to the ground story. This includes all the metal and woodwork. The contractors will probably begin the work this week. The committee appointed to let the contract, will also have all the inside work repainted and repainted. The Committee also expects to have glass put on the dials of the clock and an electric light placed in the dome, in order to see the time after night.

Rev. W. M. White, of Marrowbone, filled the regular appointment of Rev. J. R. Crawford, at the Presbyterian church this place, Sunday evening. His talk on "The work of Redemption in respect to Man" was well delivered and heard by a good size audience. Rev. White is a recent graduate of Cumberland University and will have charge of the pastorate at old Union during the remaining portion of the year. While here he was entertained at the home of Mrs. Annie Flowers.

In the whirlwind Educational Campaign of Kentucky, which will begin at an early date, Prof. J. L. Harman, of Bowling Green, has been assigned to Adair county. Prof. Harman is an interesting instructive speaker and his address here ought to bring together a large number interested in education. His date will be duty advertised.

Lost—A milk cow, white with red spots, deborned and about five years old. Has been gone since Saturday, the 12th inst. Will give liberal reward for any information leading to her return to me. S. C. Nest, 33-1t.

Circuit court opened at Jamestown Monday morning. Judge Baker arrived about ten o'clock, and by the dinner hour he had delivered his instructions to the grand jury, and in the afternoon it got down to business. There was a fair crowd in attendance and the merchants and traders were busy throughout the day.

Eloped to Tennessee.

Last Wednesday forenoon Mr. Dan Clark and Miss Ione Rounds, both of this city, eloped to Tennessee where they were married, returning to Columbia the latter part of the week. They have been lovers for quite awhile and the elopement was not a surprise, in fact, several persons in town were apprised of it before the couple started.

Miss Rounds left her home early in the morning in company with Miss Mary East, telling her parents that she was going out of town to spend the day with an aunt of Miss East. When they reached the Disappointment bridge, Mr. Clark, in a buggy, made his appearance. Miss Rounds accepted a seat in Mr. Clark's vehicle and the journey to Gretna Green was commenced. In due course of time their destination was reached and the rites solemnized.

Mr. Clark has been a citizen of Columbia for several years, employed by The Standard Hardware Lumber Company. He has a genial disposition and is quite popular with all the young men of the town. He is a native of Tennessee, and sprung from, as we are reliable informed, a very excellent family.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Rounds, who have resided in Columbia for six or eight years. They are fine people. Mrs. Rounds is a music teacher of ability and her daughter possesses the same accomplishments. She sings and plays on the piano beautifully and she is also a skilled violinist. It is our understanding the couple will board, for the present, with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hurt.

The News extends its very best wishes, trusting that happy contentment may abide with them so long as both may be permitted to live.

If you want a privilege at The Columbia Fair call on the executive committee, composed of R. F. Paul, J. H. Young and Allen Walker.

On Sunday, the 29th day of May, Miss Mary Hood, a native of Adair county, and a daughter of the late Jo Hood, was married at Chautauque, Oklahoma, to Mr. W. M. Burkhead. The wedding occurred at the home of Dr. J. R. Hood, brother of the bride. Miss Mary Hood left this county she was a school teacher. The groom is a prosperous farmer.

Notice To Tax Payers.

Owing to the recent decision of the Court of Appeals in regard to a levy for School purposes I will hereby call in all appointments and will not receive taxes any further until after the Adair Fiscal Court convenes and fixes the amount of the levy for the year 1909. Said Court is called to meet at the Court-house in Columbia, Ky., on Friday, June 25th, for the purpose of fixing said levy. W. B. Patterson, S.A.C.

Serious Accident.

Mr. Josh Butler, a prosperous farmer living near town, met with a painful and serious accident last Thursday about the noon hour. He was running a binder and in some way his right hand got caught in the machine, breaking the two middle fingers. It will be some time before Mr. Butler will be able to use his hand.

TANGLE PARTY.

Miss Nina Marcum Entertains in Honor of her guests, Messrs Harry V. Denver and Wallace Reed, of Tenn.

Miss Nina Marcum was hostess at a brilliant reception, given Saturday evening at her home on Burkville street, in honor of Messrs Harry V. Denver, Lexington, Tenn. and Wallace F. Reed, Memphis, Tenn., who have been her guests for the past few days. The several contests, in which most of the guests were very "tangled" afforded words of meritment for all and the prize, an illustrated copy of the Poems of Riley, was won by Miss Martha Hancock. Orange and chocolate cream with cake was served and at an hour, very late and near early, the delighted guests of the evening departed. The following were present:

Misses Audrey Frazier, Hattie Lewis, Edna Lewis, Alice Walker, Katie Murrell, Messrs Arthur Frazier, Herschel Baker, Ray Flowers, Alex Chewing, Wallace F. Reed, Memphis, Tenn., George Love, Jim Wilmore, Fred Hill, Woodruff Flowers, Cleason Hulse, Reed Shelton, Annie Patterson, Minnie Triplett, Mrs. M. E. Harber, Ursula Koelch, Ray Cartwright, Nina Marcum, Lexington, Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Hancock.

Mr. Jo Russell has sold his interest in the mercantile business of Russell & Co., to Mr. J. O. Russell. The transfer was made last week. Mr. Jo Russell will probably rest a few weeks, then engage in other business. It is known that he was a traveling salesman for quite a number of years, and that he was very successful, and it is predicted that he will again take the road. He has received recently, as we understand, several flattering propositions from large wholesale houses. In any business he engages in he will have the best wishes of this community.

There seems to be an abundance of foxes this year and later on there will be plenty of melody given forth by the foxes. Mr. S. L. Banks, of Cane Valley reports plenty of them in his section. Last Saturday while cutting wheat and when it had been reduced to a standing of about two acres the foxes began to seek other shelter and five were seen to leave the field. Knowing they were in there an effort was made to kill them which was fairly successful. A shepherd dog caught two while Mr. Banks shot one. They were about half grown and beautiful grey.

There are two or three places on the road from here to Zion which need the attention of a number of hands for several days. It is said that during the wet weather it was almost impossible to get over the cuts with a vehicle. The same condition exists from Mr. T. P. Dunbar's farm, on the Russell Springs road, to Ozark. These had places could soon be fixed if the ones whose houses it is to look after the roads, would get at it.

Judge Junius Hancock is authorized to appoint two students from this county to take a course in civil engineering in The State University. These appointments are worth $40 a year to each one appointed while taking the course. Any young man who wants to prepare himself for this line of work should apply to Judge Hancock at once as the appointments must be made before the first day of September.

Mr. C. R. Payne is here from Burkville. It is our understanding that he is in the preparations to build a bridge from the Campbellville pike to the old road, which belongs to the Garnett estate. It will require a great deal of work, but it will be a valuable improvement. It is to be closed at each end with gates, the road to be a private passway.

There are two murder trials docketed for this term of the Russell circuit court—Henry McGowan for killing L. L. Dunbar, and a man named Gosser for killing his brother-in-law. If McGowan is tried it will be his second trial. He is charged with eight months ago and given a life sentence. An appeal was taken and the case remanded for trial.

The Columbia Baptist Sunday School will have its annual picnic at the Fair grounds on July the seventeenth. The program has not yet been completed but the committee will make it interesting to all.

The New School Law Constitutional.

The Court of Appeals decided last week, that the new school law was constitutional, that a mandamus would lie to force the Fiscal Court to make the levy and that the County Board of Education has the right to determine the amount of money needed by the schools. About forty counties refused to make the levy and unless it is made before the first day of July the schools will be seriously crippled. Judge Hancock informs us that he will call a meeting of the Magistrate before that date to consider this proposition. Whether the law is good or bad, whether it pleases or displeases it is an open, plain duty to obey, without doubtless every county will accept the situation without the pressure of the courts.

Death of Mr. J. E. Taylor.

For several months Mr. J. E. Taylor, of Louisville, a native of Cumberland county, who was an excellent citizen, was a great sufferer, being a victim of cancer of the stomach. He consulted a number of physicians, and it was decided that an operation might save his life, and, one week ago, he went under the knife at an infirmary in the city. He rallied a little, but finally succumbed to the inevitable, dying last Thursday night. The remains were shipped to White's Bottom, Cumberland county, where the funeral services were conducted last Sunday by Rev. J. R. Crawford, of this place. The deceased was a member of Columbia Chapter, No. 10, of the Order of the Freemasons, and had been a devout member of the Presbyterian Church for a number of years. He leaves a wife and several children. Peace to his memory.

Thurman and Lewis.

[From Lebanon Falcon.]

Of the two candidates for Circuit Judge in this district, the Democratic nominee, Judge Thurman, has a record of five years on the bench, and his official course during that time is the best indication of what it will continue to be if he is re-elected to a full term. "By their fruits ye shall know them," or, as commonly put, judge the future by the past.

How is it with Mr. Lewis, the nominee of the Leader crowd.

He has, for several years, held the responsible office of Mayor of Springfield, while Judge Thurman was Circuit Judge, and we naturally turn to his record of performance of official duty in that position to find an earnest of the course he would pursue if elected to the higher position. What does that record show as his standard of official propriety, and an impartial performance of public duty, regardless of personal feeling or interest?

Mr. Lewis was an active, outspoken and vehement opponent of local option when that question was before the voters of Springfield and shortly after the election one C. A. Thompson was being tried before Judge Noe, Police Judge of Springfield, on a charge of having opened his saloon on election day. Mr. Lewis was his attorney, and in order to influence Judge Noe in his decision, threatened that if his client were convicted and fined, he as Mayor, would have the fine paid out of the funds of the city.

This threat to use his official position to shield his client from any penalty that might be imposed did not deter Judge Noe from doing what he conceived to be his duty under the law as he construed it, and after a patient and impartial consideration of the evidence and argument, imposed a fine of $100 against the defendant.

At the next meeting of the city council, in accordance with his announced intention, Mr. Lewis had a resolution introduced, directing the payment of the fine out of the public funds in the city treasury. The vote on the resolution was a tie, until Mr. Lewis, as Mayor, cast his vote in favor of it thereby securing its adoption.

Very soon thereafter the grand jury met, and after investigating the matter, had decided to indict Mr. Lewis for misappropriation of public funds, but, on assurances from him that the money appropriated for the benefit of his client had not yet been paid, and the promise that it would not be thereafter paid, the grand jury with held indictment.

The resolution, however, and Mr. Lewis' vote on it, appear on the records of the city, and give the best evidence of his remarkable capacity to disregard personal feelings and interest in the performance of official duties.

As Mayor, he was charged with the duty of seeing that the laws were enforced in the city, without respect of persons or individual opinions; a more excitable, impulsive and prejudiced partisan might have hesitated to appropriate for the private and personal benefit of one whom he represented as attorney, public funds that had been raised by taxation for public purposes; he might have hesitated to construe his oath of office as an obligation to use his official position and the public treasury for the private benefit of his clients, or of those who had been associated with him as partisans on the same side of a question submitted for decision to the voters, and by them already settled at the polls, and with which the Mayor had nothing to do further than to see that the will of the majority was enforced against all alike.

Judge Noe, evidently took this view of the matter of official duty in so far as it concerned the office of Police Judge, for he was firm in the enforcement of the law as he understood it, without respect of persons, and without being affected by any consideration personal to himself.

Mr. Lewis, however, felt himself to be, by nature, so calm, impassive, impersonal, non-partisan, and so analytical and discriminating in his mental make up, that he stood far above the standard of ordinary men in actual life, and he could not understand the prejudice, the littleness, the narrow minded blindness, that caused the grand jury to interpose an objection to his use of "his little office" for the personal benefit of a friend in trouble; for what other purpose could he have been induced to honor the position of Mayor with the greatness of his talents?

Now that he has reversed his position on the liquor question, and is no longer "wet," but an extreme local optionist, marching under the banner of the county unit bill, it is interesting to speculate if he would use any official position he might obtain to help a local optionist or a former client, in the same way he did to help Mr. Thompson.

It is but fair to say that the two councilmen who voted for the resolution were not lawyers, and that they were induced to do so by the persuasions of Mr. Lewis, in whom they had great confidence as a lawyer and as a man; but for this influence exerted upon them at a time when they had no opportunity to reflect for themselves on the matter in its real bearings, they would not have aided in the adoption of the resolution.

It is also fair to say for Mr. Lewis that when the grand jury stopped the payment of the fine imposed on Mr. Thompson out of the public funds, the sixty days allowed for an appeal had nearly, but not quite, expired, and that he then immediately took an appeal to the circuit court where a jury assessed a fine of $100.00, and on appeal to the court of appeals, the judgment was reversed on account of an error in an instruction; after this the indictment was dismissed without a further trial.

These steps, however, were long after the effort to apply public funds to relieve the client of Mr. Lewis from a fine regularly imposed upon him by the Police Judge, whose judgment was that of a court of competent jurisdiction, and was to be taken as conclusive and binding until reversed on appeal to a higher court, and neither an individual nor any other official had a right to treat it with contempt. The judgments of our courts must be respected so long as they stand in full force, and no appeal was ever taken from this judgment until after the grand jury had blocked the scheme to pay the fine out of public funds.

We could wish that Mr. Lewis had given evidence of a higher standard of official propriety, and an example of a more strict regard for official duty, but he is now a candidate for a higher office, and recognizes that the people demand from its incumbent a high standard; he can not therefore complain if they judge him by his past performances rather than by his promises for the future. The people of this district, having under Judge Thurman's administration of the office of Circuit Judge become accustomed to a very high standard, indeed, will be slow in permitting to be introduced into the judiciary of the state the same standard set by Mr. Lewis as Lord Mayor of Springfield.

Picking at Other's Faults.

What is the good of spying holes in people's coats when we can't mend them? Talk of my debts if you mean to pay them; if not, keep your red rag behind your ivory ridge. Friends' faults should not be advertised, and even a stranger's should not be published. "He who makes a fool of another is a fool himself." Don't get into the habit of laughing at other people for the old saying is, "Hangin' stretching and mocking's catching." Jestin' is too apt to turn into jeerin', and what was meant to tickle makes a wound. It is a pity when my mirth is another man's misery. Before a man cracks a joke he should consider how he would like it himself; for many who give rough blows have very thin skins. Give only what you would be willing to take; some men throw salt on others, but they smart if a pinch of it falls on their own raw places. When they get Rowland for their Oliver, or a tit for tat, they don't like it, yet nothing is more just. Bitters deserve to be bitten.—Ex.

While chasing a hog which he was about to butcher Earl Collins fell upon the knife with which he was to have cut the hog's throat and was killed at Frankfort. The knife which was as sharp as a razor, went straight to the young man's heart. Collins was a son of Taylor Collins who has a meat store in South Frankfort. The accident occurred at the slaughter house of Mr. Collins, in the Choatesville neighborhood. Collins was twenty-eight years of age, and was well known in Frankfort.

Out of the Ginger Jar.

Even a legless man can run through a bank account.

It requires a skillful surgeon to set a bone, but anybody can set an egg.

When a girl falls in love with a loafer we usually find him the idle of her heart.

There is little expectation that the July and August sun will melt the ice trust.

The cornfield ought to take a high rank because there are so many kernels in it.

It would not take a threshing machine very long to thresh out some men's ideas.

The auctioneer knocks down almost everything he touches, and yet nobody seems to mind it.

"By their fruits ye shall know them;" but what about a tree with a dozen different varieties of graft?

Talk about the farmers having no influence; they are stirring up the entire country right now.

Our neighbor's faults are magnified seven fold, but as to our own shortcomings we cannot see them with a microscope.

It is not best always to stay at home; an occasional change is good for anybody. Even the kitchen fire goes out occasionally.

Every farmer can be his own weather prophet if he will keep his stools under the shed and his stock in the stable during bad nights.

A SOLDIER'S DREAM.

I was sitting down to dinner
In a farm house over the sea,
To a turkey brown and tender,
And a cup of steaming tea.
There was fruits sweet with richness,
And a row of pumpkin pies.
With the largest, whitest biscuits
That was ever made to raise.
There my dear old-fashioned mother,
In her purple painted gown,
Meekly bent her silver tresses
As she called the blessings down.
She was just about to help me,
To the sugar and the cream.
When the reveille awoke me
And found it all a dream.
But to-day I'm in the tropics,
Many, many miles away,
From the farm house and the turkey
And my mother old and gray,
Clad in torn and faded khaki,
And the raggedst of hats,
In a country where the mammi
Runs to slum, made of rats.
It is not the least of hardships
That a soldier has to bear,
Dreams and pleasant recollections
Of the day and better fare,
While the peaceful home folks gather,
Round a board of plenty spread,
He is living in the trenches
Waiting for a dose of lead.
But all the friends and near relations,
Far among the smiling fields,
Who are grateful for the bounty
That a plentiful harvest yields,
Don't forget who guards old glory,
Of the golden land for you,
And just spare a thought at dinner,
For your absent friends in blue.

Women Who Are Envid

Those attractive women who are lovely in face, form and temper are the envy of many, who might be like them. A weak, sickly woman may be nervous and irritable. Constipation or Kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. For all such, Electric Bitters work wonders. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath smooth velvety skin, lovely complexion. Many charming women owe their health and beauty to them. 50c at Paul Drug Co.

ing a rain storm when the animal became frightened at the lightning and ran away, throwing the rider, whose feet caught in the trace chain. The boy was dragged nearly a mile over the rough road and his brains dashed out and scattered over the entire distance.

Quite a number of Clay county farmers and a few in the upper section of Knox are preparing to raise tobacco crops this year. For some time a good quality of tobacco has been raised in Clay county, although on a small scale. The soil of that region is well adapted to the cultivation of tobacco, and much land which has heretofore been given over to corn will be used for tobacco culture.

Germ Killers.

Sunshine and fresh air kill disease germs. This is why you should see to it that both these health giving agencies are not excluded from your home.

Don't live or work in rooms that have no fresh air. Such rooms are dangerous. Always sleep with your window open in winter and summer. Don't be afraid of damp air. Don't be afraid of night air. They are not dangerous, but rooms that are kept closed are dangerous, because the poison of disease is in the air of such rooms. Let all the sunlight and fresh air that you can into your rooms. Sleep in the fresh air. Live only in the fresh air.

Short Stops.

Some folks believe in live and let live, but most of them want you to pay board.

When a man begins to comb hair over his bald spot he becomes almost vicious in his criticism of the giddiness of woman.

A fellow would enjoy going on a vacation if he didn't meet so many people who were on their way to the place he is leaving to spend their vacations.

Puddiford Suggs two years ago wore a coat that was so short it struck him at the junction of his suspenders; now his coat flaps about his knees. What would the world be without its due proportion of Puddiford Suggses?

People could get along tolerably well without servants, except that it would deprive them of a never-failing topic of conversation.

There have been but ten women in the history of this country who were mean enough to describe how their husbands proposed to them.

Men don't run to short sleeves and long gloves and dropstick waists, but as a general thing they can get themselves up to look foolish if they try.

Amos Ransom's boy has picked this subject for his graduation oration: "Is the World Any Better Than It Was Twenty Years Ago, or Is It Worse; and What Influences Have or Have Not Combined to Bring This About; and in That Case, What Is the Remedy We Should Apply?" The oration is somewhat shorter.

After all, you get more fun out of life, although you may be regarded as a trifle odd, if you believe that the general run of men are honest.

The great trouble with this world is that everybody wants to talk and nobody wants to listen.

Lots of men criticize the Cubans for not running their country peaceably, and then go home and make the family unhappy by kicking about some unimportant thing.

Some people's idea of patience is for you to stand meekly while they get the best of you.

While I do not relish the idea of kings kissing each other how-de-do and good-by, still I doubt if either of the kings accuses the other of having been drunk again.

Ezra Timms is so afraid of being bitten that he bores every body.

A real statesman is one who can keep right on looking dignified after his collar has wilted.

On Advertising.

Says an exchange: "If you tout your little tooter and then lay away your horn, there's not a soul, in ten short days will know that you were born. The man who gathers pumpkins is the man who plows all day, and the man who keeps a humpin is the man who makes it pay. The man who advertises with short and sudden jerks is the man who blames the editor because it never works. The man who gets the business has a strong and steady plow, he keeps his trade and paper from year to year quite full. He plans his advertisements in a thoughtful honest way, keeps forever at it until he makes it pay."

Happiness.

The sum of happiness is made up of a thousand details. A little kindness done to one less fortunate gives the heart a beat of pleasure that no millinery or laces or jewels can possibly inspire.

To overcome prejudice is more satisfying than a ten-course dinner.

To subdue a difficulty and smother a selfish desire is to become strong and splendid. If life is worth living at all, it is worth living in a state of progress and improvement.

If we moan and groan, filling the air with dissatisfaction and gloom, we can scarcely hope to partake of much contentment.

All you need is a good thump on the back by some cheerful soul who has faith in you, and a promise to yourself that you will face your work and your worries cheerfully.

An Indigestion Remedy Free

Many people who are otherwise healthy suffer from indigestion, or dyspepsia. When you consider that the stomach and allied digestive organs are the most important organs of the body, it would seem that a disorder there is to be taken very seriously.

Dyspepsia cannot eat the things they like; food sours in the stomach; then chronic constipation begins, or, as is often the case, you have been constipated along, and the stools are forced and irregular.

But there is no use letting indigestion get until it becomes chronic and undermines your health. It is good advice to suggest to you that you go to the drug store and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The wonderful cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles. That is what Dr. Fowler of Cincin City, Mich. did and he is well today. Others who did the same and are cured are Jan A. Portune, of Grand Junction, Tenn.; B. F. Thompson, of Birmingham, Ala.; and many others. It is a liquid, cast gently, never grips, and soothes the laxative effect. Contains exceptional tonic properties which tone the stomach and that is what is especially needed in indigestion.

Indigestion is a condition which never used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the doctor. It will be sent direct by writing to the doctor, or you may order your thousands have proven to their own satisfaction. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the very remedy they needed to cure indigestion. When once you use this grand remedy you will throw violent catarrhs, flatulency, belching, etc., away.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. E. Caldwell, 305 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

For Farmers.

Salt and charcoal should be kept in every pen and pasture, so the pigs can eat all they wish.

Don't try to see how many chicks you can hatch out, but rather, how many you can raise.

Hens should not be closed up in a barrel or box after they have hatched out their chicks. They need exercise after three weeks setting.

At the end of a bed of seeds, drive down a stake and slip the empty seed bag over the top of it to help you remember what you have sowed there.

Green corn-stalks, lettuce and other garden greens should be cut up fine and given to fowls confined in yards. When deprived of it, hens lack the red color in their combs, and the blood will become impure.

As soon as the young chicks are hatched, it is a good plan to remove them to the garden or out under the trees, if the weather is favorable, where they can get plenty of insects to eat and scratch all they like.

The bowel trouble, which kills many chicks when they are from one to two weeks of age, may often be corrected by taking away the chicks' drinking water and giving instead, scalded milk to which a little cinnamon has been added.

Make the garden rows long and straight, so as to use the horse cultivator or the wheelhoe to the best advantage. Stir the ground after planting, often after each rain, or about once in ten days anyhow.

Plants should be thinned to a uniform distance apart when quite small. Only in this way can the gardener secure uniformity in size and time of maturity of his vegetable. Plants not needed are not any better than weeds.

The cows often make trouble at this season of the year with lumpy or stringy milk. A good treatment is as follows: First give a thorough purge, say a pound of Glauber's salts. When it has ceased to act, give half an ounce of niter and thirty drops of aceton twice a day for two days, or longer if not cured.

A Thrilling Rescue.

How Bert R. Lean, of Cheney, Wash. was saved from a frightful death is a story to thrill the world. "A hard cold," he writes, "brought on a desperate lung trouble that baffled an expert doctor here. Then I paid $10 to $15 a visit to a lung specialist in Spokane, who did not help me. Then I went to California, but without benefit. At last I used Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me and now I am as well as ever." For Lung Trouble, Bronchitis, Coughs and Colds, Asthma, Croup and Whooping Cough its supreme. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Paul Drag Co.

Strange Discoloration.

An old oak tree growing on the farm of William Hart, in Washington county, is an object of interest, from the fact that it bears upon its stem a singular discoloration that is attributed to a supernatural agency, says the Springfield Leader. The tree grows near what was at one time a public passway, and is about eighteen inches in diameter. One Sunday afternoon about 20 years ago Dick Allen and Bill Gray, two negroes, were returning from Hayden's distillery on horseback. When near the tree the negroes entered into a race and galloped at headlong speed along the narrow roadway. In passing the tree Allen's head in some manner struck the stem of the oak with such force that his skull was broken and death resulted almost instantly. Shortly after the accident a "white spot," the size of a dinner plate appeared on the tree just exactly at the point where the unfortunate negro's head struck, and there it has remained ever since.

Sawdust For Roads.

Sawdust is utilized in the South for roadmaking. Two ridges of earth are thrown up with a road machine at the required width from each other, and the space between is filled with a six-inch bed of sawdust, which is then mixed with the dirt. This is said to make a roadbed on which the tires of the heaviest loaded vehicles make no impression. The cost is stated by the Jacksonville Times-Union to be about $300 a mile, showing it to be about the cheapest road material in use. One or two such roads were constructed in a South Georgia county twenty years ago and are still in good condition, showing its durability.

Land To Be Opened.

President Taft has issued a proclamation providing for the opening up to settlement and entry of about 440,000 acres of land in the Flathead, Mont.; 200,000 in the Coeur d'Alene, Ida., and between 50,000 and 100,000 in the Spokane, Wash., reservations.

Registration, which will commence on July 15 and close August 5, must be executed and sworn to at either Kalispell or Missoula, Mont., for the Flathead land; at Spokane for the Spokane land, and at Coeur d'Alene for the lands in the Coeur d'Alene reservation.

Applications for registration must be delivered through the mails only to the superintendent of the opening at Coeur d'Alene, which will be the point of drawing for all three reservations.

The drawing will begin at 10 o'clock, August 9, and will continue until completed. The time for making entries has been fixed as April 10, 1910, for all reservations in order to enable the successful applicants to make personal investigation of the lands which will be subject to entry.

The causes of sickness in fowls can be traced to lice, filth, no grit, over fat, sour food, leaky roof, lack of exercise, crowded quarters, cracks in the wall, exposure to hot sun, cold houses in winter, hot houses in summer, irregularity in feeding, damp houses and runs, not enough bulky food, impure drinking water, poorly ventilated houses, exposure to bad weather and feeding too much heating food in the summer time. Think this over before writing about your ailing fowls and see if you are keeping poultry under any of these conditions.

Mike Mundy, the eleven year old boy who was tried in the Lincoln Circuit Court for the murder of Hitty Farmer, an eleven year old girl, was acquitted Friday. It was proven that the child died of heart trouble and not from any blow received from the little boy.

Developing the Pig.

The advantages of beginning to develop the pigs at an early age, and while they are running with the mother, are numerous and ought not to be overlooked. It gratifies the appetite of the pigs at a time when they need more than the mother's milk. It helps to enlarge the stomach and promotes a more rapid growth than can be obtained in any other way. If the right kind of feed is used that is slightly laxative, like middlings, it is a good preventative of the pig disease called the "thumps." It relieves the mother, very much, and when weaning time comes the pigs can be weaned from the mother, and need not be checked in their growth, in the least. It is the plan that promotes early growth, and the stock can be carried to early maturity, and be kept in better form, than by letting the pigs grow along slowly, and then feeding them to put on fat to shape them up. The best form is made by growing the bone and muscle while the animal is young, and feeding well enough to have an intermingling of fat, which insures excellent quality.

The Missouri Pacific railroad and its subsidiary line, the Iron Mountain, in the Federal court at Little Rock entered a plea of guilty on the indictments recently returned against them for rebating and the court assessed a fine of $7,500 in each case.

FOR JAILER.

We are authorized to announce C. G. Jeffries, a candidate for Jailer of Adair county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The love for the old home, that section in which early life was spent, lingers in the hearts of every one who has gone to other parts of the country. No one properly reared will forget the incidents of early life, nor the memory of those with whom he associated. Business may be flourishing, surroundings pleasant and devotions to the home and a section of one's adoption true and genuine, but memories of the long ago, the old plantation, companions of youth and a desire to catch a whisper from that section can not be crowded out. In the active and busy hours only present conditions that occupy the mind, but the leisure moments often dwell in the past and return to the old home, friends, many who still reside and whose condition and environments would be pleasant news to you if in touch with the activities of that section. Occasionally friends may write you but their writings are too often limited to one or two subjects, and fail, in a large measure, to meet your desires. True it is that some may allow business affairs and the love of fame and fortune to override the incidents of early life and blot out the memories of youthful days, but they are exceptions and never had a deep love implanted in their makeup. To those who have left the sunny side of Old Kentucky, in Adair and adjoining counties, the News will carry the many little messages that will revitalize that love for the home of your youth and will make the activities of this part of the State a source of pleasure. Many in other States and sections of this State are gladly receiving the paper, but there are many who have failed to do so. Some are not aware of its existence, some neglect and some are indifferent. If you have a friend in any part of the country who would probably appreciate the News send us the name and address that we can mail sample papers. Better still for you to send it for a short while if you wish to contribute to their pleasure and the advancement of the News. Don't overlook this request, but give us the names and addresses of your friends in other parts.

Mr. W. P. Walton, who recently sold the State Journal which he published at Frankfort, announces that he will never again take up news paper work, but will engage in the brokerage business at Lexington. He is a bright and entertaining writer and the press of Kentucky has something to regret. We trust that he will be as successful in his new avocation as he was in the news paper business. Forty years ago, then a poor man, his newspaper career commenced at Stanford. He is now in fine circumstance.

The Louisville and Nashville stock is valuable property. At the regular monthly meeting of the Directors, held in New York, last Wednesday, a semi-annual dividend, of 3 per cent. was declared, payable August 10. This is an increase of one half of one per cent. and places the stock on a 6 per cent. basis. The stock was reduced last year to 5 per cent. on account of poor business resulting from the panic. The amount to be paid to stockholders in August is $1,800,000.

Mr. Taft sent to Congress last week a message urging the passage of an amendment to the tariff bill improving a tax of 2 per cent. on the undisturbed net earnings of corporations. He also urged the passage of a resolution submitting to the several States an amendment to the Constitution giving Congress the power to levy a tax on incomes. We believe the President is right. The tax would only come off the millionaires, and men who are wallowing in wealth ought to be willing to pay a small per cent for the pleasure.

Mrs. Cleveland, the widow of late Ex-President Grover Cleveland, took the witness stand in New York last week against Broughton Brandenburg, who is charged with forging Mr. Cleveland's name to a letter which was used by the Republicans during the campaign last year. Mrs. Cleveland swore positively that Mr. Cleveland did not sign his name to the document. Rascality will come to light. Too many people knew Grover Cleveland, for a fraud to be worked over his forged name after he was dead.

Miss Lizzie Halderman, daughter of Col. W. B. Halderman, editor of the Louisville Times, died in Paris, France, a few days ago. Miss Halderman was traveling with her parents in Europe. She was a young lady of charming personality, making her debut last winter, she was said to have been one of the most beautiful young ladies of the south. The remains were shipped to Louisville. Colonel and Mrs. Halderman received many cablegrams of condolence.

Mr. G. P. Burres, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for circuit court clerk, appeared before Circuit Judge H. T. Baker, last Wednesday and in the presence of Fred McLean, Deputy circuit clerk, was examined touching his qualifications for the discharge of the duties of the office for which he is a candidate as required by law and was found to be qualified in every particular to fill the office, and was given certificate by Judge Baker.

On June 14th Chicago, Ill., was the coldest place in the United States. The temperature registered 48 degrees at 2:30 P.M. In the city New York heat prostrations were reported, the mercury registering 85 degrees. With the exception of El Paso, Texas, where 96 degrees was recorded and Jacksonville, Fla., with 92 degrees, Boston, Mass., and Albany, New York, were the hottest places in this country.

Rev. J. W. Porter, of Lexington, has been chosen editor of the Baptist Recorder, the oldest organ of the Church in the South. The former elder, Rev. C. M. Thompson, resigned to accept the pastorate of the Hopkinsville Baptist church.

Judge Emmet Field, of Louisville, one of the most eminent jurists of the South, died suddenly from heart failure at the City Hall, Louisville, last Monday.

What Are Ghosts.

Moses tells us in Gen. 25-8, that Abraham gave up the ghost and died and it seems that ever since persons have telling ghost stories until, as Mr. Dooley says, (every body's wife's aunt's seen a ghost.) Are all of them imaginary like the one W. relates in Adair county News? Have so many same persons been deceived? Some of the greatest scholars and scientists of the world admit they cannot explain all these phenomena from a scientific standpoint, have formed what is known as the Psychological Society of Research with headquarters in London whose object is to investigate these things. They have obtained accounts of many ghosts or apparitions from persons of undoubted veracity. This Society is composed of such men as Prof. Sedgwick, Prof. Oliver Lodge, a leading scientist, Prof. Charles Rickett, the famous Physiologist, of Paris, Prof. Mat Hemoir, of Berlin University, Prof. Langley, of Smithsonian University, Washington, D. C., Sir Wm. Crookes, discover of X-rays, Prof. James, of Harvard, A. J. Balfour recently Premier of England, with many others of notoriety.

As W. tells us in the News, 50 years ago many of the older persons believed in premonitions, through dreams, in ghosts and some believed there were familiar spirits or witches, but now any one who cannot tell to a certainty that these are all founded on superstition is considered mentally unsound. We once knew all this, but after some personal experience along this line, and the evidence of many whose honesty we could not doubt, it seems there is reality in some of these stories, no doubt many of them are mere fabrications to deceive others caused by fear, while many believed what they told to be true. It has been said that all men have their superstition, but few will admit it, while all would rather go around than through a graveyard on a dark night. Why otherwise truthful persons should falsely claim to have seen, and in many cases conversed with absent or dead friends, we cannot understand. It seems that the first Christians believed in visible spirits. The Old Scriptures are a book of dreams. The Witch of Endor must have possessed supernatural power when she called up the spirit of Samuel to converse with Saul, and if the truth of a proposition can be established upon human testimony these things must be true, but anyone knowing them to be merely superstition, will please rise and testify. ### To The Voters of Adair County.

I am a candidate for jailer and earnestly solicit your vote and influence.

MY REASONS FOR RUNNING.

The Republican candidates for the nomination for the different offices in Adair county which were to be nominated at the primary election which was held on the 24th day of last April went into a sworn obligation not to use money or whiskey to permit their friends to do the same in order to influence voters in said primary election.

I proceeded to canvass the county asking my friends to support me and at no time did I offer to buy or agree for any of my friends to use either money or whiskey to influence voters for me.

I made an honest flat footed race from beginning to end. On the other hand I have sufficient evidence to convince myself that my opponent, Mr. A. W. Tarter, did use or permitted his friends to use money and whiskey to influence voters in said primary election and I expect to prove this to the people. To the ones who supported me I am truly thankful because I know that the ones who did not support me I have no ill feeling but only ask all those who I consider I might be able to convince myself that my opponent, Mr. A. W. Tarter, did use or permitted his friends to use money and whiskey to influence voters in said primary election and I expect to prove this to the people. To the ones who supported me I am truly thankful because I know that the ones who did not support me I have no ill feeling but only ask all those who I consider I might be able to convince myself that my opponent, Mr. A. W. Tarter, did use or permitted his friends to use money and whiskey to influence voters in said primary election and I expect to prove this to the people.

If I had been defeated in a fair way I would have stepped down and out without a word, but under the circumstances I consider it my privilege to remain a candidate. Owing to the fact that I am so often asked by my friends whether or not I expect to run, I do hereby make a public announcement of my candidacy.

Yours truly,
J. K. P. Conover.

The principal difference between Northern and Southern cities and towns is that the former are noted for their

What is medicine for? To cure you, if sick, you say. But one medicine will not cure every kind of sickness, because different medicines act on different parts of the body. One medicine goes to the liver, another to the spine, Wine of Cardui to the womanly organs. So that is why

Mrs. Wm. Turner, of Bartonsville, Ill., writes: "I suffered for years with female diseases, and doctored without relief. My back and head would hurt me, and I suffered agony with bearing-down pains. At last I took Wine of Cardui and now I am in good health." Sold everywhere, in $1.00 bottles.

will be emphasized in the 1909 "Whirlwind Campaign" for better education in Kentucky are:

Popular thought should be turned from national to State and local affairs.

If the people rule they must take time from private to attend to public business.

The most important duty of any generation is to prepare the next to enjoy and transmit what society has gained through ages of toil and suffering.

The whole people must be educated to meet the demands of our complex civilization. Every child has an inherent right to an equal chance in the race of life.

The State needs enlightened men; for a republic with an ignorant electorate is an impossibility. The State needs honest men, brave men, religious men, men of faith and self-denial and the schools must supply them.

How Consumption is Cured.

Authorities of every kind have finally agreed that the outdoor treatment is the only reliable treatment for the Great White Plague. Impure, confined air interferes with the functional processes of the lungs. The carbonic acid gas is not properly replaced by oxygen, the great life-giver, which cannot be absorbed in proper quantities. In endeavoring to cultivate the habit of living out of doors, it may be difficult at first to maintain warmth. One will not be benefited when seriously suffering from cold. The body should slowly but surely immerse the body to what might ordinarily be regarded as exposure.

When taking the out-door treatment, do not forget the necessity of securing all the oxygen you can through deep breathing exercises. If you expand the chest on each occasion as much as you can without pain or discomfort, there is no possible chance of your being harmed. The expansion of the lungs should always begin in the abdominal region and gradually extend up to the chest. When a breath is taken in this manner, the air is carried down to the lowest parts of the lungs and gradually, as the chest fills and expands thereafter, all other parts of the lungs are expanded and strengthened.—June Physical Culture.

Better Conditions Demanded.

What seems to argue most in Kentucky's educational progress, is the public sentiment that is everywhere in the Commonwealth demanding better conditions. The colleges and higher institutions of learning throughout Kentucky have become zealous advocates of improved rural school conditions. Men and women in every walk and condition of life are clamoring for better schools in rural Kentucky. Business men who heretofore have failed to connect material progress with educational progress, have now opened their eyes to the fact that these go hand in hand, and so are arguing with much enthusiasm broader and more liberal education for all the children in Kentucky. This aroused public sentiment bodes well for our educational progress; for the schools of any Commonwealth can be made as good as the people want them. Public interest is the life of the public schools.

Mr. W. P. Montgomery, while at work at the saw mill at this place last week, was engaged near the saw and made an effort to catch a grease cup that was falling and missed the cup and caught his right hand on the saw which cut off his little finger and cut his hand very badly. Dr. J. H. Grady was called in and dressed the wounded hand and reported Mr. Montgomery getting along very well.

We have heard several of the farmers from the Sparksville community commenting on the wheat crop in that section this season, and especially the high the straw grew. We heard several say that on the farm of Mr. James Gilpin the straw was anywhere from five and one-half to eight feet high and the heads in accordance to the straw.
